KISS

Got frustrated with the frills I put in the previous version of the site. Our company was refreshing the hosting of some of our sites and I got the opportunity to both update the infrastructure of the site and change the look.

Went simple. I'd rather focus on content than the frills around it. More book, less book cover.

Thank you, Benjamin

The work was done by Benjamin Martindale. He was faithful to accomplish the goals and verify my approval at every step. I appreciate his help very much.

Now, for content

This has already eased my mind and got me thinking about content again. Time to clean up some prepped posts and get some new ones working.
